Messaging service CRYPE from VEPRO - Privacy by design -

The upcoming messaging service Crype from VEPRO focuses on secure and private communication between users. Behind the term „Privacy by design“ VEPRO would like to express the idea „Data protection through technology design“. The center of interest for the development of this app is the data protection and the privacy of the users.

Messages stay there,
where they belong
- At your place -

CRYPE works with a peer-to-peer connection. So there is no central server that stores and intercepts your data. In contrast to central networks, your conversations, messages and data are not intercepted or stored by any third party. Your messages are just as secure as your calls. More security for your online communication is impossible!
